Massive School Legislative Package Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education Monday called upon the next General Assembly to increase state funding of public schools and adopted new standards for the training of college students to become teachers.

In a 40-item legislative package, the board recommended the state pay half of the cost of public education by 1978, compared with about 40 provided currently.

And it suggested that the present school foundation formula be replaced by an "equal yield plan" which would guarantee school districts a minimum level of dollar support per pupil for each mill of local property tax.

The board said closer funding related to the "growth potential" of the state income and sales taxes "would provide an improved state of stability to school finances."

Also proposed was statewide assessment, collection and distribution of taxes on electric and gas companies and railroads. The board said that since all the people are consumers all should benefit from property taxes on such utilities.

The new standards, designed to strengthen instructional programs of colleges preparing students for teaching careers, will be phased into effect over a four-year period beginning Jan. 1, 1976.

Major revisions would require that prospective teachers gain more classroom teaching experience, receive training in reading instruction and receive instruction in diagnosing learning problems and in establishing a corrective instructional program.

The standards also call for lowered faculty-student ratios for better supervision of students working in schools as part of their training.

During a public hearing held by the board of the standards prior to its regular monthly meeting, nearly all witnesses favored the new requirements.

Most indicated they considered the revised standards a major step toward refining teacher education. Several noted that the standards must be backed up with adequate state funding of college training programs.

The board also agreed to establish a 15-member committee of educators, students and lay citizens to maintain and revise teacher education standards and recommend requirements on which teaching licenses will be issued.

The board of education will appoint committee members to staggered, five-year terms.

The legislative proposals covered virtually all areas of school operations.

Other legislative recommendations:

—Compulsory kindergarten for children five years old by Sept. 30, "unless the parent provides written reasons for nonattendance based on religious beliefs or insufficient physical, mental or social development."

—State licensing of prekindergarten teachers, not now required.

—Reduced teacher-pupil ratios, and equalization of ratios between districts.

—Ohio statutes for regulating due process for students in suspension or expulsion cases should be reviewed in light of recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

—Expansion of services for physically handicapped children by $1 million a year, and including home instruction, supplemental tutoring and transportation.

—Provision of additional vocational education units through the 1977 fiscal year.

—Appropriation of $40 million to aid school districts in providing "basic school facilities."

—Increase pupil transportation subsidies to keep pace with higher costs, and required state bidding for school bus purchases.

—Law changes to permit an easier reorganization and elimination of small, "inefficient" school districts. Of the 617 total school districts in Ohio, 109 have fewer than 1,000 pupils, the committee said. The smaller districts are "economically inefficient and educationally inadequate."

Coalfield Picketing Cuts Production

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Although a tentative agreement was reached early Tuesday between striking mine construction workers and coal contractors, it remained unclear if workers would heed official calls for an end to picketing in the coalfields.

The tentative agreement, which covers some 4,400 UMW workers, now requires approval by the union's bargaining council before being submitted to a rank-and-file ratification vote.

No details of the agreement were released.

Although affiliated with the 120,000 soft coal miners who accepted a new three-year pact last week, the construction workers operate under a seperate contract. When negotiations between the workers and the Association of Bituminous Contractors failed to reach a settlement at the time of the miners' agreement, construction workers asked miners to continue their strike in a sympathy gesture.

"We urge the mine construction workers not to picket outside the mines," UMW official Phil Sparks said. UMW President Arnold Miller earlier said that the workers could face court action by the companies involved.

Pickets shut down several mines Monday when UMW officials said miners refused to cross picket lines. About a fifth of the mines scheduled to begin operations after a month-long layoff were closed.

Some spokesmen had indicated that a tentative agreement would be enough to pull the workers off the picket lines, although early samplings reveal many were waiting for official instructions before retreating.

Pickets at the Freeman Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine near Waltonville, Ill. said they heard of the tentative accord but hadn't been told to abandon their picket line. A spokesman at the two Inman Steel mines in Illinois said pickets have been departing at 12:30 a.m. and returning again at 6:30 a.m. It was unknown if they would call off further marching.

There were no pickets Monday in Districts 19 and 23 in southeastern and western Kentucky and none appeared early Tuesday. But in eastern Kentucky's District 30—where only a quarter of the mines operated on Monday—pickets apparently closed down operations again Tuesday.

Senate Votes On Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller's nomination as the nation's 41st vice president is heading toward certain Senate confirmation.

An overwhelming number of Senators are prepared to vote today in favor of the nomination despite the decision of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to oppose confirmation.

Only two other senators — one Democrat and one Republican — announced their decisions to vote against the former New York governor. Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., predicted that no more than a "baker's dozen" will oppose the nomination.

All other senators who issued statements or spoke Monday during a slow and formal debate on the Senate floor said they would vote in favor of the nomination, which has been pending since Aug. 21.

The Rockefeller nomination still must be voted on by the House Judiciary Committee and the House of Representatives.

In a letter to President Ford, Goldwater said he had originally expected to support the nomination. But Goldwater said testimony before the Senate Rules Committee and House Judiciary Committee had changed his mind.

"It is now apparent to me that Mr. Rockefeller did in effect use his own personal money to accomplish the purchase of political power," Goldwater said.

Goldwater's remarks were echoed in the Senate debate by Sen. William L. Scott, R-Va., who also said he objected to the more than $2 million in gifts and loans made by Rockefeller to various associates in the New York state government.

A different protest came from Sen. James B. Abourezk, D-S.D. He said he is less concerned about allegations of impropriety than he is about the total impact of the billion-dollar Rockefeller family fortune on the nation's foreign and military spending policies.

Both Scott and Abourezk said they would vote against the nomination.

Cold Air Pushes Way Into South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow sifted into the lower Great Lakes region and the central Appalachians today and a hard freeze stung a large part of the Deep South.

While snowfall generally was light, locally heavy squalls dumped several inches in scattered areas along the south and east shores of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. Travel advisories were in effect in these sections and in the West Virginia mountains.

In contrast, the northern and central Plains remained unseasonably mild with above-freezing temperatures common overnight. The 50s and 60s reached north into the Dakotas on Monday, and the warmup was expected to spread eastward by nightfall.

Light snow lingered in western Texas and parts of New Mexico. Rain sprinkled other sections of Texas. Rain and snow showers spilled over the Pacific Northwest as a new weather system rolled inland.

Clear skies dominated most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation outside the lower Lakes and Appalachians. Generally fair weather also was the rule in the West outside the interior Southwest and the Northwest.

Weather

Mostly sunny and warm today, high mid 30s. Clear tonight, low, upper 20s. Increasing cloudiness and a little warmer Wednesday, high, mid to upper 40s. Probability of precipitation, zero per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Monday were: high, 27; low, 16.

Gas Tax Hike Rears Head Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said today that the Ford administration may go along with an increase in the gasoline tax in an effort to reduce fuel consumption.

"It could be part of a package," of energy legislation being considered by the White House, Morton said.

Interviewed on NBC's "Today" show, Morton said the tax increase could be used to pump money back into the sagging economy.

But one of the problems to be considered, he said, is: "How do you get the tax money back into the economy in an equitable fashion?"

"I think we have to look at the other alternatives first," he added.

Although President Ford has condemned it to death, the notion of a fuel-saving gasoline tax refuses to die.

With many of the President's top energy officials still talking up the gasoline tax, Ford may yet find the proposal among their forthcoming recommendations. The officials suggest that when he sees their other proposals, Ford may decide the gasoline tax isn't so bad after all.

Ford has ordered his administration to bring about a reduction of one million barrels a day in the nation's oil consumption by the end of 1975, preferably by voluntary cooperation.

But the White House acknowledged a few days ago that voluntary efforts were proving inadequate.

The administration, heading for cabinet-level energy policy talks at Camp David next Saturday, is known to be considering such moves as mandatory automobile mileage standards; tax credits for purchasers of economical cars or, conversely, weight and horsepower taxes; import restrictions; fuel allocations and as a last resort, gasoline rationing.

Morton and others who favor the alternative of a high gasoline tax argue that it would be a less painful way to cut down fuel consumption.

It might not even cost a careful driver any extra money.

In Morton's version, the tax would be refunded, possibly through an income tax credit. But the refund would not necessarily match each individual's actual gasoline tax payments.

Morton has suggested a 30-cents-per-gallon tax that would bring in an estimated $28 billion a year at current consumption levels.

Most of the money could be refunded equally among all citizens over the age of 18, drivers and non-drivers alike, he suggests. That would work out to a payment of around $150 a year to each adult citizen.

A driver whose car covers 10,000 miles a year at 20 miles per gallon would break even, recovering as much money as he paid out for the extra gasoline tax.

Those who drive more would find their refund less than their gasoline taxes and presumably would be encouraged to start cutting down on their driving.

Fuel-saving drivers would come out ahead by paying less in fuel tax than they get back, while non-drivers would pocket the full $150 as a bonus for relying on public transportation and their own legs to get around.

Morton has suggested that the tax could be phased in gradually over a three-year period.

Steel Allocation For Offshore Rigs Seen Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President may have to allocate steel and shipyard space to the construction of offshore oildrilling rigs, says Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton.

Morton's warning was matched by E. Douglas Kenna, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, who predicted that energy developers and other industries face a fierce competition for available investment capital.

The dual warnings of a coming contest for money and materials emerged Monday during the first day of public hearings in preparation for Ford administration energy policy proposals.

Morton and Frank G. Zarb, recently nominated to head the Federal Energy Administration, indicated the Ford administration is weighing moves to impose mandatory fuel conservation measures. These steps would follow acknowledgements by administration officials that voluntary conservation efforts have proven unsatisfactory.

The hearings were conducted as seminars with witnesses and federal officials both asking and answering questions. Morton was asked by a witness whether his goal of leasing 10 million offshore acres in 1975 for oil development could be realized in view of acknowledged shortages of drilling equipment.

Morton said such acreage could at least be explored to find out where there is petroleum. He then pointed out that offshore drilling platforms are built in shipyards and thus are competing for space with merchant vessel construction. Such shipbuilding already is subsidized by the federal government and is vying for still more congressional support.

"It might be necessary to invoke the Defense Production Act to make sure we have the equipment to do the job," Morton said, referring to the President's authority to allocate critical materials and facilities and to the need to build offshore oil platforms.

Morton did not elaborate on the idea. Kenna later warned that the administration's "Project Independence" push to increase U.S. domestic energy production by 1985 would add to other industry growth demands on investment capital.

Both Morton and Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent emphasized that the energy crisis was not a problem of supply, but of paying for oil and other fuels.

"There's no shortgage," Dent said. "It's basically an economic problem."

Sugar Firms Cut Prices 2nd Time

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the nation's biggest sugar refiners have cut wholesale prices by an amount that could bring down the price of a five-pound bag by 21 cents.

Amstar, the largest refiner, said Monday it was cutting prices immediately by $3.60 for 100 pounds for grocery sugar. And Sucrest Inc. said it would follow suit.

Earlier this month, the two companies and National Sugar Refining Co. announced a $5.20 reduction, the first decline in a skyward ascent in nearly two years. A National spokesman said the company was not cutting prices again Monday.

There was speculation that because of declining world sugar prices a third price cut was forthcoming. Brokers said a drop in consumer demand pulled the prices down.

Amstar and Sucrest also announced a $5.75 reduction for 100 pounds of industrial sugars, bringing the price to $61.

The new wholesale price for a bundle of 12 five-pound bags was $39.54, they said.

In Washington, Republican Reps. Peter Peyser of New York and Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts urged President Ford to strip $85 million in federal payments to growers from the agriculture appropriations bill.

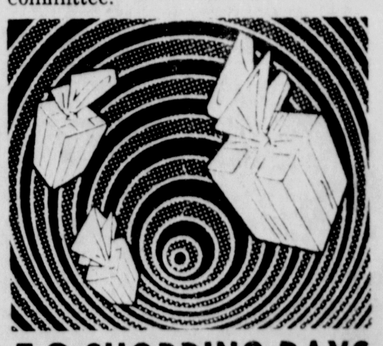
They predicted certain passage for the bill, which is in a conference committee.

Firemen Slate Lancaster Vote

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Lancaster firemen were scheduled to meet this evening to decide whether to accept a new wage package giving them and other city employes an 11 per cent across-the-board pay raise.

Lancaster City Council approved the pay package Monday night.

Firemen struck the city for a short time two weeks ago to protest the lack of progress on an agreement.



13 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Expectations of an expansive turn in government policies on the economy touched off a broad advance in the stock market today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 10.56 at 590.50, and gainers outpaced losers by 5-to-2 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market was responding to several indications that the government might be shifting its primary economic aim from combating inflation to counteracting the economic slump—among them the cut in the Federal Reserve's discount rate late last week.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .17 to 58.43.

Oil, oil-drilling and service and chemical issues were generally strong.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks advanced .61 to 35.31.

South Africa Seeking Detente

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's white minority government is mixing a lot of guns and a few olive branches in an effort to maintain peace in Southern Africa.

Prime Minister John Vorster has launched a diplomatic offensive to reach detente with black Africa while bolstering its armed might.

On Monday, the army announced black South Africans would be recruited and armed. Maj. Gen. J.R. Dutton, acting chief of the army, announced the army is training 48 Africans to train future African recruits.

South Africa's army includes about 20,000 regulars plus a citizen force, mostly reservists, of some 100,000. Dutton said there is no immediate plan for black officers, but black troops will be paid the same as whites.

Initially the blacks will be used as security guards, cooks, firemen, drivers and dog handlers.

The decision to recruit blacks is a further step in the slight relaxation of the South African government's apartheid policy of race separation to insure that the country's 3.8 million whites continue to dominate the 17.7 million nonwhites.

Meanwhile, the goverment has announced that its first shipment of French Mirage F1 jet fighters will arrive early next year. The F1 is more advanced and carries a heavier bomb load farther than the Mirage 3 the air force now uses.

South Africa also has more than 2,000 policemen with Rhodesian forces battling black guerrillas in that other bastion of white minority rule. Military leaders in recent weeks have said repeatedly that the nation is on a virtual war footing and that sacrifices will have to be made for the country to survive.

Vorster has offered to sign nonaggression treaties with black African states and promised them economic and technical assistance. He pursued detente with secret trips to black African countries and private negotiations that culminated in a summit meeting of African leaders last week in Lusaka, Zambia.

Common Market Meet Turns To Oil Policy Differences

PARIS (AP) — The Common Market summit conference turned today to the differences between the United States and France over oil policy after agreeing that a united effort is necessary to stimulate the world economy.

President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France arranged for the prime ministers of the other eight countries in the European Economic Community to meet with him privately, without aides, to discuss his refusal to accept and join the U.S. policy.

Washington wants to forge a united front of oil-importing nations to strengthen their bargaining position by reduction of consumption and other measures and then negotiate with the Arabs and other oil-exporting governments.

The other eight Common Market nations have accepted this policy and joined the U.S.- led International Energy Agency. But France has stayed out and seeks separate deals with the Arabs to insure the French oil supply.

Giscard d'Estaing is meeting President Ford on the French Caribbean island of Martinique next Saturday. There was speculation that West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt had brought back a compromise formula from his talks in Washington last week. But there was no confirmation of this.

The European chiefs met Monday for four hours and agreed that recession and unemployment are a greater danger to stability than inflation. They also agreed that the West's economic slump is "of exceptional seriousness," Belgian Prime Minister Leo Tindemans reported.

They all decided to favor economic expansion, coordinate their battle against inflation and avoid barriers to world trade, spokesmen said.

"Although no one mentioned the United States by name, it was clearly understood that the United States would have to join this effort for it to succeed," said a Dutch source.

Japan, too, would have to be tied in with the European leaders' plans, the sources said.

Make-Believe Sugar Dumped In River As Group Protests

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — In a takeoff on the Boston Tea Party, a band of New Hampshire residents has dumped make-believe sugar into the Merrimack River in a "sugar party" protesting the high price of the sweetener.

They carried signs with slogans such as "It can be a sweet holiday without sugar ... Raise cane about sugar prices."

About 20 persons, many of them elderly, took part in the opening move of what the sponsoring New Hampshire Community Action Program Directors Association said would be a boycott of sugar.

The make-believe sugar, actually sawdust, was dumped into the Merrimack from a bridge.

"We couldn't afford to dump sugar in there," said Richard E. Kelley, association president. He said the campaign is aimed at reaching not the low-income sector of the public, but the people who can afford to buy sugar and sugar-related foods.

"We're not asking poor people to stop using sugar. They've already stopped buying it. What we're trying to do is get the people who can pay the price to refuse to do so and perhaps lower the price," he said.

Kelley said the Community Action Program, funded in part by the federal government, is involved in the boycott because it represents the interests of low-income people.

He said the price of sugar has increased in 18 months from 49 cents for a five-pound bag to more than $4 for five pounds in some areas.

"The only way you can drive down the price of something is to stop buying it," he said. Kelley said preliminary plans call for a boycott of two weeks, but he said it may go longer.

Pair Given Peace Prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian Nobel Committee today presented the 1974 Nobel Peace Prize jointly to former Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan and former Foreign Minister Sean MacBride of Ireland in ceremonies attended by King Olav and the Norwegian royal families.

"With the aid of the difficult art of politics and negotiation, they have endeavored by practical means to promote their ideals," said Aase Lionaes, chairman of the Nobel committee of the Norwegian parliament.

Sato, Japan's prime minister from 1964 to 1972, was honored for his work on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty and for steering Japan on a course of "international cooperation."

MacBride, now United Nations High Commissioner for Namibia, or South-West Africa, was cited for lifelong dedication to human rights.

Sato, 73, and MacBride, 70, each received $62,000 as their share of the award along with the gold medal and diploma.

Kissinger Sets Talks On Cyprus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The twice-postponed effort by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to become directly involved in solving the Cyprus problem finally goes into play today.

After landing in Brussels, Kissinger will meet separately Wednesday morning with Melih Esenbel, Turkey's foreign minister, and Dimitri Bitsios of Greece.

All three will be attending the NATO foreign ministers' meeting starting on Wednesday.

Lost Hunter Again Object Of Search

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—A new search has been called in the week-old disappearance of a 20-year-old hunter, after two men reported sighting the missing man the day he was last seen.

Steve Pierson of Burlington and Jim Webster of Elsmere told Boone County Police they saw a man running in the rugged backwoods of Big Bone Lick State Park last Tuesday.

From photographs the two identified the man they saw as Ed Nichols, who disappeared while on a hunting trip.

"There's no question but that is the man I saw," said Pierson, who was hunting with Webster when they made the sighting.

Pierson and Webster said they found two socks, apparently dropped by the man they saw.

Police said the new search would begin today, possibly on horseback.

Pierson and Webster said that after the man saw them he bolted away, wheeled around, turning his rifle in their direction, then joined an older man.

Boone County Police Lt. Don Stamper said Nichols is on probation for a disorderly conduct charge and may fear his probation will be revoked if he is convicted of hunting deer out of season.

A hunting companion of Nichols', David Sites, has agreed to take polygraph tests Wednesday.

Attending the seminars were Arthur B. Clem, Route 1, Stoutsville, a service supervisor; Paul F. Bowman, Route 1, Ashville, a switchman; and William E. Lanman, Route 2, an installation and maintenance foreman.

A graduate of Johnson St. Paris High School, Clem has been with the company for nine years. He supervises employes in exchanges in the company's local district.

Bowman graduated from Berne Union High School and has been with GTE for the past 14 years. He works in area exchanges in this district.

The seminar taken by Lanman and Clem covers accounting, reporting and safety procedures, work scheduling and other methods to increase the supervisor's effectiveness.

Bowman's course covered detailed instruction on equipment used to automatically identify the caller's number on direct dialed calls.

More than 70 of such courses are provided by the technical training school headquartered in Marion. It is part of GTE's plan for continual education of its employes to keep pace with telephony developments.

Claim Government INS Probe Flopped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Well-informed sources say the Justice Department has failed to seek indictments in its investigation of the Immigration and Naturalization Service despite receiving allegations that some immigration employes committed perjury, fraud and bribery.

The sources said the department was engaged in an organized attempt to suppress information on which the allegations are based. The immigration service is part of the Justice Department.

Alfred Hantman, deputy chief of the Justice Department's general crimes section, presented only five or six witnesses to a federal grand jury in San Diego, Calif., for two days last month, although the department had a list of more than 20 persons who should have been called, sources said. The sources have asked not to be identified.

The list had been prepared by the House legal and monetary affairs subcommittee, which has been investigating the Justice Department's own probe of the alleged corruption.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Laurence H. Silberman is scheduled to report to the subcommittee today on the department's investigation of the allegations.

The Justice Department established Operation Cleansweep to investigate the original reports. The investigation began in May 1972 and was disbanded in September 1973.

Hantman ran the first investigation. Despite questions raised about the way he conducted it, he then was named to head the renewed investigation looking into the first probe's failures.

One source said Hantman decided to present his evidence to a grand jury whose term was about to expire, rather than go before a grand jury already investigating the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Another source said the panel was "jaded" and was upset about the amount of work it was called upon to perform.

"If you're going for indictments this isn't the grand jury you'd use," he said.

One of the witnesses who appeared before the grand jury said Hantman tried to discredit the witnesses he had called.

One source said he overheard Hantman predict before presenting the case to the grand jury that no indictments would result.

Hantman was unavailable for comment.

The Justice Department has been under congressional pressure to speed up its investigation after Alan Murray, a retired immigration service undercover agent, detailed for the subcommittee allegations of criminal behavior by immigration officials.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service is responsible for policing the nation's borders.

Accident Victims Improve

Authorities at Doctor's Hospital, North, Columbus, report that the conditions of Doug Aldenderfer, 17, and Timothy W. Logan, 18, both of Ashville, have improved.

Aldenderfer is listed in good condition and is in room 319. Listed in fair condition, Logan was moved to room 379.

The two were involved in the serious accident, Dec. 3 on North Court Street, which claimed the life of two other young Ashville men.

Sheriff's authorities are continuing investigation of the single-car accident.

Shooting victim James Seymour, 21, Laurelville, has been moved from the intensive care unit to room 374 and is also listed in fair condition.

Seymour was shot, during an argument, by Kenneth Woodgeard Dec. 3 in South Bloomingville.

Hocking County Sheriff's authorities charged Woodgeard with felonious assault.

Miss Florence M. (Billie) Bowers, 285 Sunset Dr., is still listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit at Mt. Carmel Hospital, West, Columbus.

She was injured in a car-truck accident, Nov. 26 at the Route 23-511 intersection.

Ohio Highway Patrol authorities are continuing the investigation of the accident.

Deputies Investigate Burglaries

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies are investigating break-ins at the Starlight Drive-In Theater and a home under construction owned by the Citizens Mortgage Corp.

Thieves unlocked a window to gain entry to an uninhabited dwelling located on Ridgeway Road, sometime between 11 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 a.m. Monday.

According to George Rice, manager, Citizens Mortgage Corp., the thieves took a water conditioner, valued at $320, from a storage room located in the hallway of the house.

Deputy James Dixon invistigated the report.

Authorities are searching for suspects involved in the attempted burglary at the Starlight Drive-In Theater, occurring approximately 7 p.m. Monday.

James Caudill, keeper of the theater grounds, was proceeding to check the concession building when he apparently scared the thieves away.

Entry to the building was gained by breaking a window.

Items collected by the thieves to be taken were left behind in the hurry to get away. A television, light bulbs and stereo equipment, valued at $447.50 were recovered.

Deputy James Deal and Detective Don Thompson investigated the theft.

Hebrew College Seeking Funds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Hebrew Union College has decided to challenge the economic crisis, according to its president, Dr. Albert Gottschalk.

The center for Reform Judaism has begun a financial drive which it hopes will raise $12 million next year, the school's 100th anniversary.

"We are apprehensive, but we have no choice," Gottschalk said at a news conference Monday. "We must go forward or stand still.

"Also, we are unwilling to cut away any of our three campuses and dismantle what it took 100 years to build up."

Cantata Planned In Laurelville

The cantata "The Night The Angels Sang," written by John W. Peterson, will be performed by a 30 voice choir at Trinity Church in Laurelville, 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Augmenting the Trinity Choir will be singers from Laurel Hills and Adelphi United Methodist Churches.

The choirs have been singing together for many years under the direction of Marabelle Higgins. Mrs. Robert West, church organist, is accompanist.

A candlelight service symbolizing the light of Christ coming to dispel the darkness in the world has been planned as part of this worship of the Christ Child.

The Rev. Jacob Lehman extends an invitation to the public to become a part of the celebration in song.

ROGER HOTT

The 20-year-old EKU junior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hott, Route 3, and is a graduate of Teays Valley High School. He was selected to represent the Kentucky Music Teachers Association in the orchestral wind instrument division of the auditions. He was chosen at the association's state convention in October in Louisville.

Hott was also one of four finalists in the concerto competition staged by the Charleston, S. C., Symphony Orchesta Saturday.

A candidate for the bachelor of music degree at EKU in the clarinet studio of Earl Thomas, Hott is a member of the EKU Symphony Orchestra, the Marching Maroons band, a student woodwind and various recital ensembles.

He has successfully auditioned for the position of utility clarinet with Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra. Bowers is a 1971 graduate of Circleville High School and is majoring in accounting at Marietta.

Two students from Circleville are attending Eastern Kentucky University this semester. Enrolled in regular classes at EKU are Deborah J. Bellamy and Roger D. Lutz.

Eastern enrolled a record high of 12,751 students for the 1974 fall semester, an increase of 6.4 per cent over the enrollment of 11,812 a year ago. This enrollment includes 117 Kentucky counties, 45 states, the District of Columbia, the Panama Canal Zone and 26 foreign countries.

Faculty Members Favor Bargaining

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — A majority of Ohio University faculty members voting in a Faculty Senate-approved election favored collective bargaining with the school, it was announced Monday.

A spokesman for the university said the election was held to determine interest only and did not include options on potential bargaining agents.

The next step would be for faculty members representing one or more bargaining agencies to meet with university trustees to discuss conditions for holding an election to determine a bargaining agent.

He said he made the decision for personal reasons. He had three years remaining on his term as a board member.

Lindberg, a Cincinnati attorney, has been on the board since 1969 and served twice as president.

Movie On Woman 'Social Event'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — They don't make movies about women anymore, according to the current Hollywood cliche, but John Cassavetes has.

It's called "A Woman Under the Influence," and it stars Mrs. Cassavetes, Gena Rowlands, as well as television's Columbo, Peter Falk. Cassavetes wrote and directed the film in his unique free-wheeling manner.

"Making a film is the ultimate social event," he observes wryly, and he proves it by filming almost in home-movie style. His films are always controversial, some critics hailing them as fresh and innovative, others calling them tedious and pretentious.

Cassavetes started making underground films in 1957, long before they were fashionable. His first was "Faces," which took him four years to finish. Its improvisation and naturalness had a profound effect on other film makers.

Over the years he continued acting — "The Dirty Dozen" and "Rosemary's Baby" — but he has returned to his personalized films — "Faces" (1968), "Husbands" (1971) and now "A Woman Under the Influence."

"This one took me 13 weeks to shoot and two years to complete," said Cassavetes. During that time he worked as an actor with Falk in "Mikey and Nicky," directed by another free spirit, Elaine May.

He described "A Woman Under the Influence" as "not a pro-woman picture but a prolove picture.

"It shows the dilemma of loving someone as a commitment in today's world, in which married couples see each other for only a few hours every day. The rest of the time they are other people, and it's difficult to keep a romance going under those circumstances."

Rowlands and Falk play a married couple who are "wildly in love with each other but are influenced by family and friends who are both adversary and friendly.

"It shows that love either diminishes or increases as time goes on. There are times when a wife can't stand her husband, other times when she loves him dearly. The theory that love is a constant — is a lie."

After his impressive debut with "Shadows," Cassavetes directed a couple of films for the Hollywood establishment — "Too Late Blues" with Bobby Darin and "A Child Is Waiting" with Judy Garland and Burt Lancaster.

Both were failures, and he went back to being his own boss, filming extemporaneously in real locales with minimal film crews.

"It's an insanity — and an expensive insanity," said Cassavetes, who uses his own money on the films.

Now he is going back to being an actor for a while, starting a film in Central America next month. "I'm exhausted; I've said everything I've had to say as a director," he said.

But he admitted that he will probably return to his expensive insanity with a new approach to his same theme — "I'm only interested in the relationship of men and women."

Bus Used As Forum

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—City officials are taking a red, white and blue bus equipped with a loudspeaker, through local neighborhoods in search of how to spend $2.4 million in federal funds.

The bus is being used to explain the federally-funded Community Development Act and to receive suggestions for spending the money.

"We're trying to bring city hall to the neighborhoods," said Planning Director Walter Blair.

"We'll be handing out folders and soliciting ideas on what people think is needed in Hamilton, especially in housing and housing-related conditions," he added.

Hamilton is entitled to $595,000 next year under the Community Development Act, $706,000 in 1976, and $1,074,000 in 1977.

A Page Of Opinion

Asian Trade Emphasis

United States trade officials have been spending an inordinate amount of time cultivating the Chinese trade markets since relations between the two nations began improving in 1972. Trade between the two has improved since the Nixon trip to Peking.

It could hardly have failed to improve. It was virtually zero before the new era of relations began.

That improvement, however, has been slower in coming than some had predicted and currently appears to be in a period of retrenchment. The National Council for U.S. - China Trade a few months ago predicted a two-way trade total this year approaching $1.25 billion. Now it appears to be more like $950 million, with some food shipments scheduled for China falling under cancellation orders.

Trade experts say China is withdrawing some of its trade feelers because of a lopsided balance of trade deficit and resulting foreign exchange problems. It is becoming painfully obvious to the Chinese that they have little to trade for the commodities they want from the West.

Compared to the current status of U.S. - China trade, the U.S. enjoys a $4 billion trade exchange with Taiwan annually and does $2 billion worth of business with Hong Kong. Both these Asian neighbors of China are only a fraction in territorial size and population of China, but both have highly developed industries and commerce.

It certainly is to the advantage of the United States to keep both as favored trading partners in Asia. The giant of the continent has far to go to meet the competition.

Film Too Expensive

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — There will not be a movie called "MacArthur," at least in the foreseeable future. The prospective producers, after a careful examination of the General's manifold locales — from West Point to Corregidor to Tokyo to the Republican National Convention to his burial in Norfolk, Va. — calculated it would cost $9,000,000 to film even a cursory look at his life. Bank rates being astronomical, the project has been dropped.

There were other considerations. The Defense Department has frowned on lending its assistance (and hardware) to movie producers ever since Darryl Zanuck's "Patton." And Spain is asking more than the traditional $1 a day for use of its army as faceless extras. Verily, times are tough in H'wood if it can't afford to film the life style and dramatic times of probably the best general the nation ever produced. Colorwise, if that's a word, MacArthur made Patton look and sound as bland as something found under an old rock.

Gregory Peck was at one time interested in portraying MacArthur, and he would probably have been the General's choice. Peck put in a proviso, however. He said he'd play it if the script did not require him to mutter the mouthings of a "plaster saint." Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, then approached by a filmmaker after his liberation from his Japanese POW camp, said he might consider such a movie if he were played by Gary Cooper. That, too, fell through.

One person, at least, is happy about the collapse of "MacArthur." Mrs. MacArthur.

"Thank the good Lord," exclaimed the perennially zestful former Jean Faircloth of Murfreesboro, Tenn. "There are enough newsreels left to tell the General's story . . ."

Even including some of the ultra doubletalk answers offered by the watergate Five in Judge John Sirica's court, Wilbur Mills must be awarded the solid concrete Malaprop Medal for 1974.

Asked by a reporter why he, until recently the most powerful and self-effacing figure in the House of Representatives, appeared on stage in Boston with his strip-teasing friend Mills replied, "To dispel innuendos!"

The Air Force's first new long-range bomber in nearly a quarter of a century, the B-1, would be "kept in the hangar for eight months," if Air Force Reserve General Barry Goldwater had his way. Burying it for the decent interval would take the heat off it on Capital Hill, Goldwater feels.

That would be no peril to the national security. If the B-1 was mothballed for eight years instead of eight months it would still be at least eight years ahead of anything the Russian aeronautical engineers, good as they are, could duplicate.

Krafft Ehricke, science advisor for Rockwell International, creators of the B-1, envisions important progress in the exploration and exploitation potentialities of space. In the mind-bending current issue of "Futureport," published by Future Research Associates of Nashua, N.H., the former German rocketeer notes that the U.S., for all of its investment in space research, has been niggardly. In years gone by, he recalls, we spent as much as 10 per cent of our GNP on railroads — by now a colossal fiasco, by and large — whereas during the crowded period of the '60s and early '70s we shelled out only one per cent of our "take home" for space.

Ehricke, who assisted in making many incredible dreams come true, rejects the fanciful notion that one day an overpopulated planet named Earth will establish pressurized colonies in orbit or nailed to the satellite we call moon. He feels instead that space, near and far, is for profit, and will alleviate earth's increasing energy needs.

"The ultimate heritage of Apollo is a world that is no more closed than it is flat," he writes. He expects space will eventually be used to ease critical resource shortages on earth. He sees satellites that go beyond sending TV shows from Wimbledon and singing birthday greetings, to massive orbiters that beam energy to the world via nuclear or thermo-nuclear emissions. He thinks, too, that one day we'll mine the moon for its sub-surface treasures.

Don't scoff or threaten to burn him at the stake. Look how Galileo's dissertations on the moon of Jupiter turned out last week, confirming an observation he made on January 7, 1610.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Big business quite likely will find itself in direct opposition to many proposals in the Democratic party's "economic recovery" program, enunciated in Kansas City last week.

On some issues the cleavage never seemed wider.

The Democrats declared themselves in favor of wage-price controls. Corporate officials not only are opposed to such measures but believe they might worsen economic troubles.

At the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers last week, controls were termed an economic perversion by some executives, an intrusion into the decision-making process by many, and a cause of marketplace distortions by almost all.

The Democrats spoke of "excessive, and sometimes windfall, profits." While big business cannot deny that many profits were very high this year, they argue that great misunderstandings exist about corporate finances.

Profits, the executives argue, were distorted by inflation, aren't likely to continue two years in a row, and are actually depressed in terms of the return on investment.

Big business is especially disturbed about what it feels is a failure of the public to understand the role of profits. They say that while return on sales might be high, return on investment is shrinking.

Because of this, they claim it is increasingly difficult to attract investment capital. And without that capital, they say, industry cannot fulfill the production demands made upon it.

Referring to his frustration in conveying the message, Harold Shaub, chief executive of Campbell Soup Co., told newsmen: "We in industry have done a lousy job in explaining it." He asked the newsmen to help.

The Democratic program states: "For too long our people have suffered the inequities of a tax system that needs reform." But they were referring to injustices to individuals. Big business feels it is the group treated unjustly.

The Democrats referred to the "worst recession since the Great Depression and the most serious inflation ever experienced in peacetime." Big business might agree with the latter, but many of its members fear the recession will be cut short before inflation is licked.

Businessmen at the NAM meeting felt the administration and probably the Federal Reserve would begin anti-recession moves too quickly, bowing to short-term complaints and risking more inflation in 1975 and 1976.

Reading between the lines of the Democrats' resolution, the impression emerges that the ordinary people of America — consumers, householders — are the offended. Many in big business feel they are.

The Democrats would seem to call on the spending powers of the Federal government to insure the security of the populace in the face of what could be referred to, when reviewed in years to come, as a depression.

Big business feels Federal spending, particularly in excess of revenues, is what gets us into these periodic economic messes.

Computer Used To Steal Cash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A phony $902,000 city treasury check has been cashed in New York in a massive check forgery operation conducted with the help of an unsuspecting city hall computer.

City Controller Charles Navarro said 13 bogus checks of undetermined amounts are still missing. Two men were arrested Saturday in the scheme and three checks totaling more than $2.5 million have been recovered uncashed.

The check, deposited with the Crocker International Bank, was designated for transfer to a Paris bank. However, officials here said they were uncertain whether any of the funds have left the country.

The climb of prices quoted for grains and other staples on local markets in recent weeks was of more than passing interest. The climb climaxed when the Ralston-Purina Co. quoted $1 a bushel for soybeans.

Tentative rates for Circleville corporation, township, and school district were computed by the county budget commission. Corporation rate was set at $14.10 per thousand instead of $19.10 as was paid in 1934. Reduction was made possible by the 10 mill limitation which was to take affect for 1935.

Three men mentioned as possible successors to Edwin Daley, superintendent of schools, who died recently.

Circleville had 1,167 home owners in its 1930 census population of 7,369 persons, and 94 per cent were native-born whites, according to figures announced by the Editor and Publisher Market Guide. The city had 2,048 families and 1,940 dwellings.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is there any special age for braces to be used on children's teeth?

Mrs. H. R. M.

Dear Mrs. M.:

There is no universal age at which corrective work should be started.

Each dental problem must be individually evaluated.

Crooked teeth, irregularly spaced teeth, protruding teeth, and teeth that are "bunched up" and interfere with the normal growth of the jaw can now be corrected.

The orthodontist, using X-rays, models and casts, evaluates the problem and decides on the most advantageous time for the beginning of treatment.

The key to the best results lies in a very early examination by the orthodontist. As he watches the progress of development he can begin his reconstruction procedures long before bone and dental complications occur.

I was given a general anesthetic for an operation. I vividly remembered hearing people talk and was frightened by what they said before I went into a deep sleep. Don't hospital attendants know that their talk can be heard by the patient?

Mr. E. V. S., Ohio

Dear Mr. S.:

Your observation is an important one. In superficial and sometimes deeper levels of anesthesia, patients can hear and can remember the conversations near them.

It is for this reason that all personnel in an operating room now function as quietly as possible. One of the last things that a patient needs at a time like this is to be distressed or frightened.

There was a time when people in the operating room did not fully realize that the patient undergoing anesthesia was able to hear virtually everything during the early phases of falling asleep.

The newer knowledge reduces noise and speech and adds considerably to the smoothness with which full anesthesia is induced.

Surgeons and anesthesiologists now insist on a noiseless operating room so that experiences like yours will no longer occur.

General Assembly Wraps Up Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 110th General Assembly was to officially call it quits today in an informal session expected to attract no more than a handful of legislators and fewer spectators.

The lawmakers leave town for the final time this session finally assured of the leadership in the 111th, where Democrats will control both houses but not the governorship.

Assistant House Minority Leader Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, was selected for the second time since Nov. 20 Monday to lead majority Democrats in the Senate.

He was picked unanimously at the caucus called by current minority leader Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, who had been a candidate for the job himself.

Ocasek beat Calabrese to the punch in November, calling his own caucus and winning endorsement from 17 of the 21 Democrats who will be in the next Senate. At the Calabrese caucus, Ocasek got 18 votes, including that of Calabrese.

Both claimed their were no hard feelings and Ocasek said Calabrese, whom he called a longtime friend, would get a committee chairmanship.

In the House, Speaker A. G. Lancione's assistant, Speaker Pro Tem Vernal Riffe Jr., will replace Lancione when the new legislature convenes Jan. 6. Like Calabrese, Lancione has been promised key assistant leadership positions.

The skeleton session was scheduled at 11 a.m. in the Senate and 1:30 p.m. in the House. Only two legislators and a clerk are needed in either house to put the session into history.

The handful of legislators will mainly be carrying out provisions of a resolution passed earlier by a full session—that the 110th General Assembly adjourn "sine die" Dec. 10.

Democrats next session will hold a 21-12 margin in the Senate and a 59-40 margin in the House. They currently have a 58-41 House margin while Republicans control the Senate 17-16.

Senate Democrats were to caucus this afternoon to select committee chairmen. There were indications that Sen. Tocy Hall, D-6 Dayton, would be named chairman of the Rules Committee and Sen. David Headley, D-28 Norton, would be the new Judiciary chairman.

Former newsman William Chavanne, currently Gov. John Gilligan's legislative liason man, reportedly was in line to become Senate clerk.

Gilligan, a Democrat, will leave office Jan. 13 to be replaced by Republican James A. Rhodes.

Gilligan, however, has obtained a recount of the votes in that race, but he has said he doesn't expect the recount to reverse Rhodes' 11,414-vote victory margin.

'Mirror-Image' Baby Home From Hospital

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A 3-week-old boy born with his major organs reversed in a "mirror-image" of the normal arrangement has been released from a hospital by doctors who say he can live a reasonably normal life.

The rare but not unheard-of condition also left Julian Arguelles with a heart containing only two chambers, rather than the usual four chambers.

In addition, a defect in the artery between his heart and lungs forced surgeons to install a bypass vessel the day after he was born.

Julian, born Nov. 18 to Ralph Arguelles and Maria Gonzalez of Los Angeles, has his heart tilted toward the right side of his chest instead of the left; his stomach on the right side rather than the left, and his liver in his left midsection instead of his right. The major blood vessels are also reversed.

Even the boy's appendix is reversed. One doctor said, "If he ever has appendicitis, it will hurt on the left side instead of the right."

Doctors at Huntington Memorial Hospital, where the boy was taken soon after his birth at Queen of the Valley Hospital in West Covina, said there would be no attempt to transpose the organs.

They said the condition was very rare, but that they could not offer statistics on the frequency of such reversals.

They added that there was no way of knowing what caused the genetic defect, and that there was no history of such an abnormality in the parents' families.

Hospital spokesmen said it appeared that Julian, a fullterm baby who weighed 6 pounds 1 ounce at birth, can live a fairly normal life. But they said his two-chambered heart will not permit him to engage in heavy physical activity.

Julian will have to undergo heart surgery sometime in the future because of the bypass vessel that was installed.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

It Would've Flipped

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having an argument and don't know whom else to ask, so you are nominated.

My husband says that Arthur Burns, Chairman Of the Federal Reserve Board, wears a wig. I say that's his own hair. Who's right?

C. IN DETROIT

DDEAR C.: You are. If Arthur Burns wore a wig, he'd have flipped it long ago.

DEAR ABBY: Why do so many people look down on cocktail waitresses?

When I went home for Thanksgiving, my mother asked me to tell the relatives that I work in an office. (I'm a cocktail waitress.)

Abby, I am a 23-year-old unmarried woman and I've been on my own since I was 18. I still send a part of every paycheck home because my father is too sick to work, and I'm the oldest of six.

I've never been into drugs and I don't let guys use me like some of those so-called "respectable" government girls who hang out at the bars and go home with the first guy who buys them a drink.

Will you please do me (and lots of other respectable girls) a big favor and print this with your opinion?

DECENT IN D.C.

DEAR DECENT: Cocktail waitresses are entitled to the same consideration and respect due to anyone who performs honest work for a living. The person gives dignity to the job-not the other way 'round.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the 16-year-old girl who feels herself better qualified to rear children than "old" people of 30 or 40.

When I was a scant two years older than this gir, I had a child. I was unmarried at the time.

I put the baby up for adoption. It was my own decision, and no one tried to influence me.

Now that I am mature and happily married, I can't begin to tell you how happy I am that I made that choice. It would have been unfair of me to have taken an innocent infant with through the "growing up" process which took place between then and now.

I agree with you that having a child is a wonderful experience but only when a woman is mature. How many teen-age girls do you think have this degree of maturity?

My parents taught me things when I was growing up that only an "old" 30-year-old parent could know.

LUCKY

DEAR LUCKY: Thank you for giving others the benefit of your experience. Very few unmarried teenage mothers are sufficiently mature to handle motherhood.

DEAR ABBY: I read with some amusement about the girl whose boyfriend told her she couldn't get pregnant because he had been "injured" playing football.

My husband told me the same story-only he was injured playing baseball.

We are now the proud parents of triplets!

"For it's one-two-three strikes, you're out at the old ball game."

Man Loses Disorderly Conduct Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio man who challenged a Cincinnati disorderly conduct ordinance had his latest case turned down Monday by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The court refused to consider the challenge by Stephen Karlan, who was convicted and fined $50 after the 1971 incident.

Karlan, then a law student at the University of Cincinnati, was arrested after a verbal exchange with a policeman. Karlan was working on a friend's car when police investigated.

The Supreme Court, over the dissent of Justice William O. Douglas, let stand without a hearing the conviction of Karlan, who was later denied entrance to the Ohio bar.

The ordinance makes it illegal to behave "in a noisy, boisterous, rude, insulting or other disorderly manner with the intent to abuse or annoy any person."

Karlan's conviction was upheld by the Ohio Supreme Court before the appeal to the nation's highest court.

Last March, the U.S. Supreme Court struck down a New Orleans ordinance making it unlawful "to curse or revile or use obscene or opprobrious language toward or in reference to" a police officer performing his duties.

The Ohio Supreme Court held that the Cincinnati ordinance was valid despite the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling in the New Orleans case.

Bumper Sticker Means Nothing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. DuVal of Cincinnati has discovered you can't tell a driver by his bumper sticker.

Mrs. DuVal recently pulled up behind another automobile at a traffic light in Hamilton, and noticed the bumper sticker on the back of the vehicle read; "Honk, if You Love Jesus."

She honked.

The driver, apparently forgetting the saintly sentiments, turned and gave Mrs. DuVal an obscene gesture.

Business Crimes Top $20 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's businesses will lose an estimated $20.3 billion because of crimes this year, equal to $137 for every adult in the country, the Commerce Department reported today.

The total loss last year was $15.7 billion.

The total includes losses from such crimes as shoplifting, burglary, vandalism, bad checks and employe theft.

It also includes the cost of crime prevention measures by business, estimated at $3.9 billion.

Ford Gives Jitters To Ski Instructor

DENVER (AP) — Gerald Ford isn't the worst skier in the world but the President gives his ski instructor the jitters when he takes a spill.

"When Jerry is up there skiing, he falls on his rear like the rest of us do," says Dennis Hoeger, 28, who will be Ford's private instructor when the President takes a Christmas vacation in Vail this month.

Hoeger, a real estate appraiser for the First National Bank of Denver, met Ford in 1969. At the time, Hoeger was a full-time ski instructor at Vail, a ski resort 100 miles west of Denver, and Ford was a U.S. representative from Michigan.

Hoeger gave lessons to two of Ford's four children, Susan and Steven. Ford began taking lessons in 1972 after a knee operation gave him more flexibility on skiis.

Ford and his family usually spend the Christmas holiday at a $50,500 condominium Ford owns in Vail. This year, the family plans to stay in a spacious house being lent by a Dallas investor. Ford will again take private lessons from Hoeger at the going rate of $100 a day.

Hoeger remembers that Susan broke her leg while skiing with him a couple of years ago. This will be Ford's first ski trip since becoming President, and Hoeger is somewhat worried about accidents.

"I'm always concerned when people fall down but I don't lose any sleep over it," the trim, sandy-haired instructor says. "I'm fairly nervous with him. But if it's going to happen, then it's going to happen."

Hoeger described Ford, 61, as a "good recreational skier" who uses a wide parallel stance and can ski on most intermediate slopes.

"He skis all over the mountain," Hoeger says. "We obviously don't challenge the toughest runs. He's in tremendous condition for a man his age. It's amazing."

Hoeger adds that Ford has not changed over the years.

"It's hard for me to think of him as President. He's the same guy I met in 1969 even though his job title has changed."

Hoeger describes himself as a moderate who registers to vote as an independent and cast his presidential ballot twice for Richard Nixon.

When Hoeger is instructing Ford, "We invariably get caught up in talk of Washington sometimes, but I consider it my duty to help him relax and enjoy his vacation."

Ford and his entourage will be able to cut into the head of lift lines but access of other skiers will not be limited to the slopes, according to Vail officials.

Abortions Financed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is financing abortions for up to 278,000 poor women each year at a cost of $50 million, says an official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Correspondence included a letter from the Chillicothe VA Hospital thanking the organization for sharing in their Christmas and from Marguerite Grigsby expressing thanks for Ralph Coleman for visits when he was hospitalized.

Discussion concerned fruit trays to be given for Christmas, a gift to Brooks-Yates School, a contribution sent to the Ruth Lyons Christmas Fund, and a contribution to Helen Counts Memorial at the church. Lottery Sales Bring $13.2 Million

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's lottery ticket sales will produce $15.2 million for the state's coffers by year's end, based on estimated gross sales of about $38 million, a lottery spokesman says.

James Skelly, lottery public relations director, said Monday the lottery has been returning to the state about 40 per cent of sales while giving away hundreds of thousands of dollars since the lottery began last Aug. 9.

Meanwhile, Skelly said, the "Christmas Bonus" prize system has boosted ticket sales that had slipped more than one million below what had been the 4.5 million weekly average.

Sales in recent weeks were about 3.3 million tickets, Skelly said. He said a survey taken two days after last week's announcement of the holiday bonus indicated sales had climbed to 100 per cent to 150 per cent of average.

Ticket sales always slump during holidays, Skelly and operators of other state lotteries say.

Despite the decline, Ohio is second only to Michigan among the 13 states operating lotteries, Skelly added.

Besides contending with the need to plump sales efforts because of the holidays, Skelly also said he was "going bananas" trying to deal with the weekly problem of telling Clevelanders the new winning numbers during the city's printed news blackout. Neither of Cleveland's daily newspapers has published in nearly five weeks because of labor disputes that include the strike against the Plain Dealer that began Nov. 1.

After using helicopters, town criers, sandwich boards and bikini-clad beauties, Skelly decided to have a pair of gorillas give away a pickup truckload of bananas. The truck with gorillas in the back will tour downtown Cleveland after this week's winning numbers are selected Thursday in Mansfield.

The Christmas Bonus system Skelly credited with perking up sales involves addition of two double numbers to the tickets. Matching the double set of three-digit numbers in the upper left of a ticket means a $1,000 prize for the holder. Matching the double set on the upper right of a ticket wins $2,000. Other prizes based on the regular five sets of numbers remain the same.

Skelly, who said the yearend sales projections were "guestimate figures, and they are conservative," added that no lottery ever equals its first-week sales.

"That's always the biggest in history," he said. Ohio lottery fans bought nearly seven million tickets during the 10-day initial sales period. Sales plunged in the next period— also typical, lottery operators say—but increased during three subsequent weeks, Skelly said.

Skelly added that Ohioans spend more per capita for lottery tickets than do residents of any of the other states except Michigan.

Warmer weather is forecast to return to Ohio tonight and Wednesday as a high pressure area moves across the state, bringing a flow of southerly air to Ohio.

Lows Wednesday morning should range from the 20s to around 30, in contrast to today's readings, which dipped as low as 12 degrees at Cincinnati.

Highs Wednesday afternoon should reach the upper 30s and the 40s across the state.

The high brought clearing skies and an end to snow flurries over the state and allowed northeastern Ohio to escape the brunt of the second snowstorm to buffet the area in a week.

Bellefontaine Schools Shut; No Money

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Schools in Bellefontaine closed today until Jan. 2, following the third defeat of a 5.9-mill levy which left them without operating funds, said Supt. Harold Martin.

Voters rejected the levy in May, August, and in the Nov. 5 general election. Under state law, a school system may put a levy request on the ballot only three times in a calendar year.

Because state law also dictates a school system may not end the year with a deficit, the alternative is to close for a few days in December, Martin said.

Bellefontaine is one of five Ohio districts forced to close late this year because of levy defeats.

In Doylestown, parents and citizens raised $41,000 to reopen schools in the Chippewa Local School District after voters rejected a 5.9-mill levy.

The Warren School District in Trumbull County closed last week, Wellington schools in Lorain County shut down Nov. 30 after a 9.6-mill levy failed, and Elyria schools, also in Lorain County, may suspend classes by Friday because voters turned down a 6.37-mill levy, according to Dr. Paul Spayde, assistant state superintendent of public instruction.

Martin said administrators will "regroup" and take the proposal to citizens again next spring. The school board will study the budget to see where it can be trimmed for 1975, he added.

The missed days will be made up in the spring, Martin said.

SPOKANE (AP)—While today's typical college is a "youth ghetto," campuses in 1980 will include large numbers of senior citizens and women of all ages, predicts Dr. Edward B. Lindaman, president of Whitworth College here.

Meat Labeling Aids Consumers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— High prices aside, has the problem of choosing meat in your supermarket been simpler lately? It should have been.

Under a recent Ohio law, the variety of labels on different cuts of meat were cut down from almost 700 to just three.

Under the state's new uniform meat-labeling standards, packages of meat in retail stores may now have only three basic points:

—The kind of meat — beef, pork, veal or lamb.

—The primal or wholesale cut — rib, chuck, loin, round, to say where on the animal the meat came from.

—The retail cut — such as top blade roast, spareribs or porterhouse steak, which tells the buyer what part of the primal cut the meat comes from.

Retailers still can add such display names as Delmonico steak or Patio chops if he wants to do so, but he is required to have only the three basic points.

Those basic requirements give customers a reference point regardless of what store he is shopping in.

The Ohio Department of Agriculture division of foods began inspecting meat labels Sept. 30, the day the new standards went into effect.

The new rules actually were signed last April and agriculture officials began working closely with retail stores to help make the changes as orderly and easy as possible.

Master imprint labels have been in short supply and in some cases stores are allowed to continue using old labels. But they must have proof that the new master imprints are on order.

Customers can still find "hamburger" and "ground beef" labels. But now they have a better definition of what the package contains. Until the new rules became effective the two terms were used interchangeably.

The new definition states that "hamburger" can contain beef fat, which is added to lower the percent of lean meat.

"Ground beef," must be just that — chunks of meat with no fat added.

If a grocer uses a particular cut of meat for ground beef he can so identify it on the label, such as "ground beef chuck" or "ground beef round." But this only helps the customer identify what is in the package. And, such labels must note that all of the beef in that package came from a single primal cut.

The rules also set requirements of lean meat in ground beef and hamburger. In no case can the lean be less than 70 per cent.

Labels on chicken are also more specific. If you buy a whole chicken you must get just that. Otherwise, the lable must state that parts are missing.

You might find such chicken labeled, "thigh with back portion," or "breast quarter without wing." These are considered accurate descriptions of what the packages contain.

AP Changes Reported

NEW YORK (AP)—Three major administrative assignments in key domestic bureaus of The Associated Press were announced Monday by Wes Gallagher, president and general manager of the news cooperative.

Burl Osborne, 37, chief of bureau for Ohio since 1972, has been appointed assistant chief of bureau at Washington, D.C., which is the AP's largest bureau. He will assist Chief of Bureau Marvin Arrowsmith in directing the Washington news report.

Osborne succeeds Walter Mears, 39, who resigned to become chief of The Detroit News' Washington bureau.

James C. Lagier, 39, chief of bureau at San Francisco for Northern California, succeeds Osborne at Columbus.

Martin G. Thompson, 36, news editor for the past two years at San Francisco, succeeds Lagier there.

Weed Killer Boosts Alfalfa

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio agriculture officials say tests of a new herbicide over a two-year period have increased alfalfa yields up to a ton per acre.

Dr. John Walker of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center said fall application of the weed killer pronamide doubled the percentage of alfalfa in the first cutting the following season, compared to untreated areas, or those treated with another type of hervicide.

Dr. Walker presented his findings at the North Central Weed Control Conference last week in St. Paul, Minn.

He said pronamide treatment produced almost a ton more alfalfa per acre.

State Frees Funds For Xenia

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state has released more than $2.5 million in disaster funds to help Xenia rebuild its downtown district and replenish its depleted budget.

A tornado caused extensive damage and heavy loss of life in the southwestern Ohio city last April.

The Ohio Controlling Board approved the Disaster Relief Grants on Monday after a lastminute addition to the agenda.

The watchdog agency released $1.14 million for the city's 25 per cent share in a federal urban renewal project to reshape the badly-damaged central business district.

The board also approved $640,000 for the city's operating budget and $611,766 for the city's 50 per cent match of a federal capital grants program that will permit improvements at an industrial park for relocated industries.

The city got $131,085 to match a grant from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation for work on Shawnee Park.

State Sen. Max Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, pushed the Xenia grants through, gaining board approval to waive a two-week waiting period for comments on the requests from state agencies and local planning boards.

In fact, because the move was unexpected and final papers were not ready, the money probably will not be technically released until the board's next meeting in two weeks.

The Controlling Board released $492,000 for improvements on a marina at Mosquito Lake State Park in Trumbull County, but deferred action on 14 requests from the Department of Transportation.

State Rep. Robert A. Nader, D-55 Warren, complained that the Mosquito Lake project had been unnecessarily delayed and asked that the other money be held up until the state begins the lake improvements.

In other action the controlling board: — Agreed to a $500,000 Operating Supplement Subsidy for the purchase of library materials at the Cleveland State University.

—Approved Department of Education requests for $66 million in school foundation money and $321,649 for the purchases of 61 school buses.

—Agreed to a Health Department request for $423,800 to enter into contracts with the Ohio Medical Advances Institute and the Ohio Foundation for Medical care to reform Medical Review Independent Professional Review functions at Ohio nursing homes.

—Approved the release of $433,744 to the Department of Mental Health for the state's share in the Holmes County Training Center and Workshop project.

—Approved a Mental Health request for $415,000 for repairs at the Cleveland Psychiatric Institute.

—Said yes to a Mental Health request for a $445,000 architect's fee for Dayton Residence Center for the Mentally Retarded.

—Approved Department of Public Welfare requests to transfer $2.4 million from fiscal year 1974 to fiscal year 1975 Public Assistance to cover pay raises for County Welfare Employes; allowed Public Welfare to transfer $2.5 million from its Aid to Dependent Children fund to Day Care for that program's "expanded" operations.

—Released $344,566 for a Public Welfare training program of "potential employes" at Case Western Reserve University.

—Agreed to $161,000 for the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction to renovate Dining hall and kitchen facilities at the Ohio State Reformatory in Mansfield.

—Approved Department of Transportation requests for a total of $66,601 to buy from the city of Cincinnati plots of 0.304 acres, 0.638 acres and 0.366 acres. The requests had been originally denied by the board in October of 1969.

Cheetah Cubs Born In Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati zoo officials are making special efforts to care for five cheetah cubs born there over the weekend.

If the cubs live, it would be only the third time cheetahs have bred successfully in a zoo, although the animals have been bred on game farms, according to Zoo Director Ed Maruska.

The other zoos where cheetahs have been bred and their cubs lived are at Toledo, Ohio, and Prague, Czechoslovakia, Maruska said.

A discussion of flood insurance and its impact on Pickaway County was held during Friday's meeting of the Pickaway County Insurance Agents at Pickaway Arms.

Maps are to be available designating the flood areas in the city and county.

In other business the budget for 1975 was approved and an assessment of members was approved to cover anticipated advertising expenses and other expected donations.

A report was given by Larry Plum on his attendance at a recent meeting of the Ohio Association of Insurance Agents. The main topic of concern at the meeting was anticipated rate increases and changes in the insurance industry.

A special tribute was given to Carl Bennett who was celebrating his 82nd birthday. Dick Plum is the outgoing president of the organization.

Irish Defeat Kansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Digger Phelps figured the percentages and kept his cool. It paid off in a 75-59 Notre Dame victory over Kansas.

The Jayhawks, No. 9 in the newest Associated Press college basketball rankings, shot 70 per cent from the field in the first half and grabbed a 22-16 lead at one point before intermission.

"We knew they couldn't shoot the whole game like they did in the first half," said Phelps, coach of the 11th-ranked Fighting Irish. "We figured the percentages."

In the end at South Bend, Ind., it was a pressing Notre Dame defense and the gamehigh 31 points of sophomore Adrian Dantley that led the Irish to their upset of Kansas. The game was close until midway through the second half when the Irish, making repeated steals, scored eight straight points and built leads up to 18 points.

Meanwhile, Kentucky, which dropped out of this week's rankings after a 98-74 loss to Indiana last week, shocked No. 8 North Carolina 90-78 Monday night with Jimmy Dan Conner scoring 35 points for the Wildcats.

Elsewhere among the Top Twenty, No. 10 Alabama drubbed Georgia Tech 91-76; 14th-ranked Memphis State edged Florida State 70-69; No. 15 Purdue turned back San Diego State 91-87, and No. 19 Oklahoma thrashed Jacksonville 87-69.

It looked as though Kentucky was still in a daze from the Indiana loss during the first half of the Wildcats' game at Louisville with the Tar Heels. North Carolina jumped off to a 15-point lead in the early going.

Then, with 6:24 left in the first half and trailing by nine, Kentucky seemed to react to the urging of a partisan crowd. The Wildcat defense went to work with Rick Robey, Mike Flynn and Conner igniting a comback.

Conner led a Kentucky scoring burst at the start of the second half as the Wildcats forged in front by 15 points. The Wildcats shot 52.5 per cent in the second half and finished the game with 49.3 per cent.

Center Leon Douglas scored 25 points and pulled in 13 rebounds as Alabama overpowered Georgia Tech. On defense, Douglas, a 6-foot-10 junior, held three Tech centers to a combined total of only six points.

John Tunstall's jump shot with 17 seconds left rallied Memphis State to its one-point triumph over Florida State and left the Tigers at 3-0.

Alvin Adams' 21 points paced Oklahoma over Jacksonville.

The Boilermakers survived a 40-point, 16 rebound performance by San Diego State's Will Connelly when Walter Jordan hit eight straight points in the second half to put Purdue ahead for good.

Elsewhere, Vanderbilt, shooting 61.1 per cent from the floor, beat Texas Tech 95-86; Auburn reeled off 14 straight points in the second half in beating Western Carolina 85-76; and Kansas State beat Hofstra 92-60 for its fourth straight victory.

Rick Schmidt, a 6-foot-6 forward, scored 34 points, including 14 in the final nine minutes and lifted Illinois, now 3-0, to a 77-71 victory over Iowa State.

Southern Cal Gains In Cage Poll

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Southern California gained the most ground and South Carolina lost the most prestige in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll.

The Trojans shot up four places to the No. 6 ranking after two victories last week, while South Carolina plunged eight spots to No. 13 after an upset.

Southern Cal was given 435 points by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters after beating Oklahoma State 107-88 and Utah 102-82. South Carolina, last week's No. 5 club, was beaten 90-84 by Oklahoma, one of three new teams in the Top Twenty.

North Carolina State, UCLA and Indiana continued to run 1-2-3, the same position they've had since the pre-season polls.

North Carolina State, the defending national champion, won three games last week and was awarded 39 first-place votes and a total of 936 points.

UCLA won twice last week to improve its record to 4-0, same as the Wolfpack, and gained 862 points for a solid hold on the runnerup spot. The Bruins were awarded three ballots for first place.

Indiana, winner of two games last week, including a 74-70 triumph over powerful Kansas, gained four first-place ballots and 734 points.

Louisville, which opened its season with victories over Houston and Dayton, jumped two places to No. 4. The Cardinals got three first-place votes and gained 598 points. Maryland, despite improving its record to 3-0 with two easy victories, dropped one place to No. 5.

After Southern California, the rest of the Top Ten includes, No. 7 Marquette, 361 points; No. 8 North Carolina, 356; No. 9 Kansas, 319 and No. 10 Alabama, 271.

The remainder of the ranked teams: No. 11 Notre Dame; No. 12 Penn; No. 13 South Carolina; No. 14 Memphis State; No. 15 Purdue; No. 16 Michigan; No. 17 Arizona and the three newest ranked teams — No. 18 Oregon; No. 19 Oklahoma and No. 20 Providence.

Redskins Top Rams; Gain Berth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Washington Redskins spoke in diplomatic chorus after they beat the Los Angeles Rams to gain a berth in the National Football League playoffs for the fourth straight year.

Nobody on the Redskins' team, after Monday night's 23-17 triumph on national television in Memorial Coliseum, was saying they beat the REAL Rams.

It's no small wonder. The Redskins represent the nation's capital, and diplomacy is one of their strong suits, or at least it was Monday night. They realized they likely will be in Los Angeles again to play the Rams, champions of the National Conference West, in the first round of the playoffs in two weeks.

"It could be," said Coach George Allen of Washington. "We still have a chance to win the division if the Giants beat St. Louis."

The Redskins, three-point underdogs against the Rams, now 9-4, boosted their record to 9-4 and tied St. Louis for the lead in the NFC East on the passing of Bill Kilmer, who hurled three touchdown passes in the second period to give Washington a 20-10 halftime lead.

Allen, who worried about the pulled leg muscle of place-kicker Mark Moseley and the badly bruised — and possibly broken — right leg of middle linebacker Harold McLinton, called it a "costly" victory.

The Rams lost for the first time in 13 home games since Chuck Knox took over from Tommy Prothro, Allen's successor.

Quarterback Kilmer and exRam defensive tackle Diron Talbert had nothing but praise for their potential playoff adversary.

"We had to win. We didn't want to wait until next week," said Kilmer of the Redskin emotions.

Kilmer, who completed 19 of 29 passes for 269 yards, added that the Rams Monday night, "I don't believe ... played up to their potential."

Allen said he was not surprised that the Rams tried — and failed — on a surprise pass by Mike Burke from punt formation in the second period, because Dallas had pulled that trick in the Thanksgiving Day 24-23 loss to the Cowboys.

"We were ready this time," said Allen, of Burke's pass that was broken up and gave Washington the ball on the Rams' 23. Four plays later, Kilmer threw a go-ahead touchdown pass.

Rams' starting quarterback James Harris, "woozy" from being hit by Redskin pass rushers late in the first half, sat out the second half as young Ron Jaworski ran the Ram offense. But the Redskins weren't going to get caught napping.

On Burke's pass, Knox said, "No one thing turned the game around. It was not a pre-designed play that was sent in. We split an end off and nobody covered him. The punter has the option to throw but the receiver went a little too far downfield."

The receiver, recently acquired Tony Plummer, found himself well covered by the Redskins.

Allen didn't call it the turning point, but that Burke's pass "was a big play. Any time a play sets up a score, it's big."

Blacks Find Sugar Bowl Role Working

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Blacks were admitted under pressure last year to the previously all-white group sponsoring the Sugar Bowl, and the shotgun marriage seems to be working.

"Once they found out that we didn't have tails, once they found out we didn't have vampire's teeth and didn't intend to bite them on the neck and suck their blood, once they found out that the color doesn't rub off, even those who were opposed to letting us in changed their attitudes," says Dr. Leonard L. Burns.

Burns was one of six blacks admitted after the Mid-Winter Sports Association, which sponsors the annual football game and basketball tourney, had been threatened with boycotts and court suits. One of the six — sports writer Jim Hall — died earlier this year.

"In life, as well as in death, we've been treated well," Burns said. "Jim's widow received all the attention and sympathy that any other member's wife might have expected.

"My association with MWSA has been delightful and very, very productive. We were promised equality as members and they've certainly lived up to that promise. We've been kept abreast of every detail. Even our lack of seniority hasn't been held against us."

The six blacks were admitted with 22 whites to associate membership. They had first been offered membership on a newly created advisory committee, but that offer was rejected as tokenism.

Race Horses Trained In Swimming Pool

JOHNSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Standardbred horses are going swimming these icy days on a farm near this Licking County town to stay in shape for racing.

Morton Haynes of Columbus and Ward Davis, owners of Appleton Acres, maintain their indoor facility serves as a shortcut for training pacers and trotters, too.

The coowners say a horse can be pool exercised for racing in four to six weeks instead of the customary eight to 12 weeks on an outside track.

More than 96,000 persons went through the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum at Cooperstown, N. Y., in August.

YMCA Cage Results

Eight Senior High and five Junior High teams are competing in YMCA Winter Basketball League action this year.

Games are played on Monday, Tuesday, and Friday nights. There are over 110 junior and senior high boys involved from Pickaway County schools.

Cleveland Browns Lose Court Appeal

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are withholding comment on the Supreme Court decision not to review an order directing the club to refund ticket price increases put into effect for the 1971 football season.

"We have not received official word of the decision, therefore we have no comment on the matter," a Browns spokesman said Monday.

The court let stand a decision of Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals that price hikes violated the price freeze regulations. A dissenting vote was cast by Justice William O. Douglas.

Coaches Are Named For 26th Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Coaches Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers and John Ralston of the Denver Broncos of the National Football League will direct opposing teams in the 26th annual Senior Bowl allstar football game Jan. 11, officials announced Monday.

Ralston, the former Stanford coach, will handle the North team — his first coaching assignment in the Senior Bowl.

Nolan, the former Maryland star, also will be making his first appearance as head coach of the South team.

Michigan State faces three non-Big Ten football rivals in 1975. They are Notre Dame, North Carolina State and Miami of Ohio.

TV Hosts Grandview In Key Metro Contest

The juggled Metro League race should take shape after a complete slate of games tonight and Friday.

While all the teams are involved in important games, the key contest should be Friday when the current league-leaders, Teays Valley and Franklin Heights, meet in the Falcons gym.

In tonight's games, Teays Valley (2-0) meets Grandview (1-1), Olentangy (1-1) invades Franklin Heights (2-0), West Jefferson (1-1) travels to Hamilton Twp. (1-1), and Marysville (0-2) invades Dublin (0-2).

Then Friday West Jefferson is at Grandview, Dublin is at Olentangy, and Marysville is at Hamilton Twp.

The key games tonight is in Ashville where Coach Bob Hoover's Vikings will be trying to rebound from their first loss of the year, a 57-42 defeat at the hands of Circleville Saturday.

It was the worst offensive showing of the year for the Vikes, who defeated Marysville 81-56 and Olentangy 80-72 in previous games, and are averaging 68 points a game.

Leading TV scorer heading into the game is Terry Collins, who has a 15-point-a-game average.

Lee Stiles is shooting 14 points a game, Kevin Pettibone is averaging 11, and Chuck Glitt 10.

Grandview, which has not permitted an opponent to score over 50 points and is averaging 43 points on defense, has a 71-48 win over Pickerington, 66-38 win over Academy, and a 50-40 contest over Hamilton Twp. The Bobcats were whipped by Olentangy 46-41 in the second week of the season.

Grandview is led by Mike Heine and Chris McCabe, both scoring about 12 points a game.

Anderson's Percentage Proves Tops

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A back injury has forced Cincinnati passing wizard Ken Anderson out of the Bengals final game of the season, but it won't stop him from having become the National Football League's most accurate passer in 29 years.

His 64.9 passing percentage is the best since Slingin' Sammy Baugh of Washington completed 70.3 per cent of his attempts in 1945.

Anderson was accidentally kicked in the back Sunday in a 23-19 loss to the Detroit Lions. He suffered three damaged vertebrae and was pronounced out for the season Monday.

The Bengals close their season Saturday against Pittsburgh, the team Anderson set two NFL records against last month during a 20-of-22 performance.

Anderson will be replaced by backup quarterback Wayne Clark. Coach Paul Brown said starting cornerback Ken Riley, a former quarterback at Florida A & M, will undergo a crash course this week in the event Clark is injured.

Anderson finished with a 12-of-16 effort against Detroit before the injury Monday through the third quarter.

He had 87 yards to give him a career-high 2,667 yards for the season. He set a club record last year with 2,428 yards. His record-toppling season included a 352-yard passing day against Houston.

TV Freshmen Tame Bobcats In Overtime

The Teays Valley freshmen basketball squad, taken into overtime by Grandview, rallied to top the Bobcats 49-40 in a game Monday at TV.

Rick Queen, who finished with nine points, hit two field goals and a free throw in the overtime period to seal the win for Coach Roger Campbell and his crew.

The young Vikings jumped off to an 11-8 first period lead and streched it to 23-12 at the half and 33-22 after three periods.

With TV leading 38-30 with about a minute to go, Grandview employed a press that got them back into the game. A shot launched at the buzzer tied the game and sent it into overtime.

Mike Fisher, who scored four points in overtime, took game honors with 17.

Dwayne Hettinger had 10, Duane Keller had eight, Mark Blue hit for three, and Ronnie Little scored two.

Reiterman was high for Grandview with 13 points.

Purdue Turns Back San Diego, 91-87

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Despite a record-setting 40 points by San Diego State center Will Connelly, Purdue grabbed the lead in the second half and held on for a 91-87 victory in intersectional Big Ten basketball Monday night.

Illinois downed Iowa State 77-71 and Northwestern turned back Valparaiso 82-74 in other games involving conference teams.

Connelly, a 6-foot-8 center, garnered 16 rebounds, tops in the game, and his scoring skills under the rim at San Diego toppled a San Diego State record set by Van Jacobsen in 1968-69.

Boilermaker Walter Jordan hit for eight straight points in the second half to put Purdue ahead to stay. Purdue had led 49-39 at intermission, and San Diego took a 62-61 lead midway through the second half before Jordan's barrage put the game away for the Boilermakers.

Center John Garrett and guard Bruce Parkinson shared scoring honors for Purdue with 19 points apiece. Jordan finished with 13.

The Big Ten over-all record is now 23-6 in intersectional play.

Rick Schmidt scored 35 points for the Illini, including 14 in the last nine minutes of the game.

The win upped Illinois' record to 4-0. Iowa State fell to 1-4.

Valparaiso tried a comeback in the second half of its game against Northwestern, but the Wildcats were able to hold on for a 82-74 triumph. With less than 12 minutes to play, Northwestern boasted a 16-point lead at 66-50. Valparaiso narrowed the gap to 70-65 with more than six minutes left to play, but the rally fizzled.

The win left Northwestern with a .500 record at 2-2 and struck Valparaiso with a 2-3 mark.

Only one Big Ten game is scheduled tonight. Purdue plays St. Xavier in Cincinnati. Wednesday night Indiana faces Notre Dame, Michigan is at Southern Illinois and Purdue hosts West Virginia.

Dayton Flyers Top Detroit; Win 90-76

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit basketball Coach Dick Vitale says Dayton guard Johnny Davis, who almost singlehandedly demolished the Titans Monday night, definitely is AllAmerican material.

"Davis was the key to everything they did," Vitale said after the Flyers beat Detroit 90-76 behind the sophomore guard's 34-point performance. "You have to stop him to stop Dayton.

"The whole Dayton offense goes down the court headhunting to get Davis free," Vitale observed.

The 6-foot-2 Davis seemed to dribble right through the Titan press and hit the basket from all angles. He netted 14 points in a five-minute stretch en route to 22 second-half points and had a perfect 12-12 night from the free throw line.

The Flyers held a narrow advantage for most of the first half and had a 47-31 margin at intermission. They then got hot in the second period, hitting 67 per cent of their shots from the field, while Detroit managed only 30 per cent.

Assisting the Dayton attack were Joe Fisher and Leighton Moulton with 14 points apiece. Allen Elijah had a game-high 15 rebounds. The Flyers improved their record to 3-1.

The loss was Detroit's first in three games. Dennis Boyd was the visitors' leading scorer with 13 points.

In other Ohio college basketball action Monday night, Central State downed Kenyon 79-65 as freshman Steve Bayless scored 22 points to give the Marauders their second victory in three games. Tim Appleton of Kenyon (3-3) also had 22 points to share scoring honors.

Dickie Kelley swished 30 points as Wheeling, W. Va., handed Ohio Dominican its third straight defeat, 93-76. Mark Lumm had 22 points for Dominican.

Two Ohio teams both made unsuccessful trips to Pennsylvania. Wilberforce was victimized by Point Park 93-65 and Mount Union fell to Grove City 55-52.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Business matters, difficult tasks, long-range planning favored. But don't rush into things. Have patience, be vigilant and precise.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Hunches sometimes warn when not to speak or act but are often ignored. Better pay attention to them, and to the suggestions of others now.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Weigh fitness and the validity of proposed action carefully. Keep eyes on the farthest horizon possible as you steer your course.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Don't let surface glitter beguile you. Search for facts before accepting any proposition — no matter how rosy it sounds.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Don't take on too many responsibilities. You could bog down even though your shoulders are strong and your motives admirable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You have a fine planetary set-up. Get into the spirit of things and do your utmost to advance your interests.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Rationalize, think things over logically before making important moves — and just about every move WILL be important now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Your senses, perception and spirits should be buoyed now. You can do a great deal with little material, with even less than others to start with. Make the most of a good day!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You should have little trouble now in obtaining the attention and cooperation you need. Especially favored: finances, business negotiations, organizational matters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Mixed planetary influences. Orient self carefully. A good period for business and job matters but unusual tact may be required if personal affairs are to run smoothly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Avoid a tendency toward unconventionality. Don't join those who are indiscreet or you could become involved in situations to be later regretted.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): All things may not go exactly as you desire, but you will find many advantages, anyway — if you look carefully in all areas.

YOU BORN TODAY have a great love for your fellowman, and your tolerance and generosity are outstanding. In this connection, however, you should use care in selecting the recipients of your altruism, since there are many who would take advantage of your good nature. But to the more morally inclined, you are a constant source of inspiration and example — which is why you would make an excellent teacher or preacher. Extremely versatile, however, you could succeed in almost any other field of your choice — especially in business leadership, the law, music, journalism or architecture. Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Tonight's viewing instructions call for anyone interested in good drama to watch "After the Fall" on NBC. If you'd prefer a bad amateur hour, catch "Out to Lunch" on ABC.

NBC's offering is an excellent television adaptation by Arthur Miller of his 1964 stage drama which some critics say was modeled on the life of the late Marilyn Monroe, Miller's second wife.

Although the show runs 2½ hours, it's worth every minute of your time if only for the brilliant performance of Faye Dunaway, cast as Maggie, a waiflike, insecure, not-too-bright receptionist who achieves fame as a singer, only to self-destruct at the pinnacle of success.

She's in fine acting company with Christopher Plummer, cast in the central role of Quentin, an anguished attorney who in successive steps becomes Maggie's adviser, lover and then husband.

The play basically is about the dilemma of a man who cannot bring himself to marry for a third time until he's confronted his past mistakes and decided whether he has the chance of a decent future.

So much for tonight's good viewing news. On the flip side of the channel is the bad news — ABC's "Out to Lunch" special.

This opus fantasizes about what might happen if Elliott Gould, Rita Moreno and delegates from "Sesame Street" and "The Electric Company" took over ABC while the network's regular employes were out at lunch.

After seeing it, I'm surprised ABC hasn't ordered its people to eat lunch at their desks every day from now on.

This show, by a new commercial subsidiary of the Children's Television Workshop, has skits intended to be somewhat satirical. They aren't. They're amateurish and waste both time and performing talent.

Fear New Spiral In Food Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today that retail food prices could rise as fast during the first half of next year as they have risen this year.

Supermarket prices through June could go up at an annual rate of 15 per cent, "barring a sharp collapse in domestic and world demand," said J. Dawson Ahalt, a staff economist presenting the department's analysis of the food price outlook.

Ellen Zawel, president of the National Consumers Congress, said in response to Ahalt's prepared address to the department's annual National Agricultural Outlook Conference, "The prospects of another 15 to 20 per cent increase in food prices is mind-boggling."

Food prices last year jumped 14.5 per cent and have increased about another 15 per cent so far this year.

A year ago the department predicted a 12 per cent increase during 1974. However, poor harvests reduced supply and increased prices.

Ahalt said prospects are "highly uncertain" for the last half of 1975, when economists again hope for bumper U.S. grain crops.

Ahalt said additional increases in processing, distributing and marketing costs will add to pressure on prices. But he predicted such increases will be more in line with overall price trends than they have been this year, when middlemen have accounted for 84 per cent of the increase in retail prices.

Ms. Zawel, as she prefers to be known, blasted the department in her response, saying, "Retail prices are merely the noxious tip of an iceberg whose foundation has been systematically ignored by myopic decision-makers."

She said food inflation is fueled by "the interplay of supply and demand factors and the costly structure of the domestic food delivery system.

"While farmers go broke and consumers are exhorted to bite the bullet, all the food industry manages to do is pass the buck," she said. "Consumers will no longer tolerate, and can no longer afford to pay, the pass-along."

Blame 'Savings' In Bridge Failure

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A switch from the use of wire suspension cables to steel eyebars in the design of the Silver Bridge may have been prompted by economic considerations, a bridge consultant testified Monday.

The collapse of the Ohio River bridge at Point Pleasant, which resulted in the deaths of 46 persons in 1967, has been attributed to the failure of one of the eyebars.

Abba G. Lichtenstein, president of a Teaneck, N.J. consulting firm which specializes in bridges, told the West Virginia Court of Claims that the change was made because "the steel company wanted to save money, in my opinion."

Lichtenstein said the switch to the eyebar suspension system made the bridge unsafe.

His testimony came as a three-judge panel resumed trial in the Silver Bridge case, in which 56 claimants are suing the state Department of Highways for nearly $6.4 million for death, injury and property damages.

Claims by the estates of two persons who died when the bridge fell on Dec. 15, 1967, will be used to decide the issue of the state's liability. If held liable, remaining proceedings will be restricted to determining the amounts to which claimants are entitled.

The claims are by the estates of Melvin A. Cantrell, for $112,000, and James A. White, for $110,000. Lichtenstein testified as a witness for the estate of White — a 40-year-old Point Pleasant teacher when he died.

Lichtenstein, who spent the entire day on the witness chair, said the J.E. Greiner firm originally designed the bridge to use wire-strand suspension cables. But the bridge's builder, U.S. Steel's American Bridge Division, changed it to the eyebars, he said.

The span, completed in 1927, was built and operated as a private toll bridge, but was acquired by the state in 1941.

Lichtenstein said the switch resulted in a reduction of the safety factor to the point where it was unsafe. He said the factor went from 1.75 to 1.50. Anything below 1.75, he said, was unsafe.

The safety factor, he explained, was obtained by dividing the yield point — a stress level expressed in pounds per square inch — by the working load the bridge carries.

"The factors of safety were much too low to comply with good engineering practice," Lichtenstein said under questioning by Chester Lovett of Charleston, counsel for the White estate.

When cross-examined by Atty. Gen. Chauncey Browning Jr., Lichtenstein conceded that some increase in the safety margin resulted because the bridge was used for two-lane traffic instead of the planned three lanes.
